

Biography

Jessica Diehl

Jessica Diehl began her career as a model before quickly moving to the editorial side of fashion. After early stints at Allure, Marie Claire and Vogue under Grace Coddington Jessica spent 12 years at Vanity Fair in the roles of style director, fashion director and ultimately, creative director.

While at Vanity Fair Jessica was responsible for covers and celebrity features which included some of the top talent in the world including Julia Roberts, George Clooney, Jennifer Lawrence, Matt Damon, Caitlyn Jenner, Meghan Markle and Angelina Jolie among others. She has worked with top photographers like Annie Leibovitz, Peter Lindbergh, Tim Walker, Craig McDean, Mikael Jansson, Inez and Vinoodh and Mert and Marcus.

Jessica also collaborates with a range of brands on seasonal collections, advertising campaigns and various other projects some of which have included Max Mara, Stuart Weitzman, Estee Lauder, Donna Karan, Banana Republic, Pirelli and more.